GENERAL INFORMATION ABOUT THE STUDY

A field of study is an area of knowledge that can be the subject of higher education at one of its three levels. A field of study is defined by its content, which is characterised in particular by the areas and range of knowledge, skills and competences that profile the graduate. The Ministry of Education, Science, Research and Sport of the Slovak Republic issues the system of fields of study of the Slovak Republic by a generally binding legal regulation.

The study programme represents a set of educational activities (lecture, seminar, exercise, excursion, professional practice, state examination, defence of the final thesis), the successful completion of which, in compliance with the established rules, allows to obtain a university degree. The study programme is carried out in a field of study which is part of the system of fields of study. The study programme may also be pursued in a combination of two fields of study. Graduates of the bachelor's study programme shall obtain a university degree of the first degree (bachelor's degree - 'Bc.'). Graduates of the master's study programme obtain a second degree (degree - "Mgr."). Graduates of the doctoral study programme shall obtain a third-level education (degree - "M.Sc."). "PhD.").

The recommended study plan sets out the recommended structure and sequence of the courses of the study programme and is designed so that by completing it the student fulfils the conditions for successful completion of the study at the standard length. The recommended study plan also contains information on the category of the course (compulsory, compulsory elective), the recommended semester of completion of the course, the number of credits, the weekly contact hours of teaching, the student's workload in hours required for successful completion of the course, the name of the teacher of the course and information on whether it is a profile course. All other relevant course information such as learning outcomes, associated criteria and assessment rules, prerequisites, specification of learning activities, specification of learning methods, course outline, information and the name of the tutor are given in the course information sheets.

Subjects - the study programme is divided into study subjects. A course is made up of a unit of the study programme or a group of units of the study programme aimed at providing education in a defined area (e.g. a lecture and a corresponding exercise). Courses included in the study programme are divided into compulsory (their successful completion is a condition for successful completion of the study programme) and compulsory elective (a condition for successful completion of the study programme is the successful completion of a specified number of these courses of the student's choice in the structure determined by the study programme).

Credits - each subject has an assigned number of credits in the study programme. The credits assigned to courses reflect the proportion of the student's work required to successfully complete the course within the standard scope of work for one academic year. A student may earn credits for a course only once during the course of his/her studies. The standard student workload for a full academic year of full-time study is 60 credits, for one semester 30 credits. The full-time form of study is organised in such a way that the study according to the recommended study plan corresponds, depending on the study programme in terms of time intensity, to the work of the student in the range of 1500 to 1800 hours per academic year, including independent study and independent creative activity. In the relevant study programme, when allocating credits to individual subjects, it was taken into account that 1 credit corresponds to 25 hours of work, including self-study and independent creative activity, in terms of time intensity.

Academic year - starts on 1 September and ends on 31 August of the following year. The academic year is divided into winter and summer semesters. The teaching part of the semester lasts 13 weeks, the examination period of the semester lasts 6 weeks.

The standard length of study at the Faculty of Arts is three years for the Bachelor's degree programme and two years for the Master's degree programme. Study according to the study programme may not exceed its standard length by more than two years.

Higher education is coming to an end:

- a) by completing studies properly (graduating from the relevant study programme);
- b) by dropping out;
- c) by not completing their studies within the time limit set pursuant to Section 65(2) of the Higher Education Act;
- d) exclusion from studies for failure to meet the requirements of the study programme and the study regulations of the faculty;
- e) expulsion from studies as a disciplinary measure for a disciplinary offence;
- f) cancellation of the study programme pursuant to § 72 (2) (e), if the student does not accept the offer of the university to continue his/her studies in another study programme;
- g) death of a student.
